

TENALIRAMA CATCHES THE THIEF

King Krishna Dev Rai returned back to his kingdom from a victorious battle.

He was very happy about the victory.

I want to distribute this valuable jewels amongst all my ministers. They all worked very hard to achieve this victory.

Next day the jewels were laid for distribution amongst the ministers. The king had one for each minister.

My dear ministers, please take your share.

The ministers immediately rushed to take the jewels.

Tenalirama entered late. By the time he arrived there were no jewels left in the plate. His envious colleagues were very happy.

Ha! Ha!! Ha!!
There is nothing left for Tenalirama.

Today he will go empty handed

King was not aware that Tenaliram had come late.

I hope you got your share

The king thinks that I have already taken my share. How can I tell him that I did not get anything?

Tenalirama bowed to the plate....

.... and covered it with a piece of cloth. This drew the attention of the King.

What are you doing standing there? Why did you cover the plate with the cloth?

Tenalirama whispered into King's ear....

Since I came late, some minister has taken away my share.
So I was just trying to cover the sin with my cloth.

How is this possible? I had counted the exact number of jewels and placed them myself. There was one jewel for each minister. This means that one of the minister has taken double share.

This is a good opportunity to catch the corrupt thief. Tell them that you will personally do a physical check of all the ministers.

Being afraid of King's wrath, one minister immediately confessed....

The king took the jewel and gifted it to Tenalirama. Besides, the king also gave the minister's share to Tenalirama.

You helped me catch the corrupt minister.
Hence you get double share.

The ministers were burning due to envy.

MORAL :

One should not take more than what he deserves. If out of envy we try to grab some one's share, not only we will have to return the share but will also loose whatever was our share.

If all of us in this world stop from being envious & grabbing each other's share than there will be enough for everyone and all can stay peacefully.
